GRENADA ROTARY CLUB VISITED HOLCOMB COM- MUNITY FOR LUNCHEON

Sometime ago a committee was appointed for the Rotary Club to contact the communities of Grenada county and arrange for dates to visit them for luncheon. It was the hope of the club that visiting the various communities for luncheon with the citizens outside of Grenada would foster the objects of Rotary, that it would tend to strengthen the ties of friendship among all our people, and that better acquaintance would develop from such activities.

Accordingly the committee contacted several communities, thru Miss Lottis Wood, Grenada county home demonstration agent. It was learned that the best contact with each community could be made through the Woman's Club. The Holcomb community was selected for the month of June because of the date chosen by the Woman's Club of that place, and because of conflicting circumstances that prevented going to other communities during the month.

The Holcomb Woman's Club, through its President, Mrs. A. Y. McBride, invited the Rotarians to meet with them on Tuesday evening, June 28, at seven o'clock. The Rotarians and their invited guests, the husbands and friends of the club women, began gathering on the school campus at the appointed hour. Very soon they were seated in front of the primary building at tables filled with fried chicken and other wholesome and delicious food. Quiet reigned for about thirty minutes while all partook of the satisfying luncheon. Then Pete LaGrone, president of the Grenada Rotary Club, arose to express thanks and appreciation to the Holcomb community and its invited guests for the opportunity of visiting the community and for the wonderful feast prepared.

Mr. John Rundle, the principal speaker of the occasion, was next introduced. In his address he gave a brief history of Rotary and an inspiring explanation of its four objects. He spoke distinctly and emphatically that all might understand that Rotary is something real and valuable. Other speakers were called upon for brief talks, among whom was Roy Doak who gave some interesting facts relative to the county and the Holcomb community. Mr. A. Y. McBride expressed his opinion of the value for good to come from the fellowship of such a meeting. Likewise some of the ladies expressed themselves as being highly pleased by having the Rotarians with them and invited them to come again.

It was a very pleasant and enjoyable evening for all who attended.

25,000 Boy Scouts To Be At Jamboree

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt, active in the Scouting Movement for seventeen years and Honorary President of the organization since entering the White House, expects to see each of the 25,000 Boy Scouts while they are here from June 30th to July 9th for their National Jamboree.

Plans call for Mr. Roosevelt to drive through that part of the 350-acre tented city that extends along the south bank of the Potomac River on Wednesday, July 7, accompanied by Jamboree camp chiefs. He has indicated that he will visit the Troop Camp of the Scouts from Dutchess County, N. Y., his home county, and talk with his young neighbors.

On the same day the President will attend the all-star baseball game at Griffith Stadium, accompanied by 12 Eagle Scouts, one from each of the twelve Boy Scout Regions.

On July 8, President Roosevelt will review all the Scouts in a unique way—the "stationary parade." Instead of parading past the President for two or three hours, the Scouts will stand still, in single columns on both sides of Constitution Avenue from the Capitol to the Lincoln Memorial. The President and other dignitaries will drive between the columns.

A PROLOGUE

(By W. E. Boushe)

In the near future I am going to write for you two articles, which should be of interest to all Grenadians, not indeed for any literary merit, but for their import in regard to you and me. First will be the famous 15th Miss Regiment and the Grenada Rifles. Nor are those lacking who would say this was the noblest group ever gathered on American shores, unsurpassed in annals of warfare who went through four years of almost continuous battle, confronted by inconceivable odds, and who were ever greater in peace than war. Your father and my father.

The next will be the battle of Franklin, the most desperate battle of Civil War, when losses in proportion to number engaged were appalling. When more Grenadians were perhaps killed than all the balance of the war combined. These articles will be written that we may anew appreciate the value of our fathers. That those unacquainted with these facts may be doubly proud of dear old Grenada county. Many friends express to me their appreciation of the little articles I write. I hope you too enjoy them, also many letters from different parts of the country, two of which I am publishing for you in part. One from Mr. J. Potts Holt, of Memphis, which throws further interesting light on the "Payne Family of Glenwild Plantation." The next from our mutually esteemed friend Mr. Lloyd T. Binford, of Memphis:

Memphis, Tenn., June 19, 1937.
Mr. W. E. Boushe,
Grenada, Miss.
My Dear Mr. Boushe:
"Been enjoying, for sometime, the write-ups of Grenada people and territory, by Hon. W. W. Whitaker and yourself. And I beg take this opportunity to sincerely thank you, in behalf of myself and the many readers of The Grenada Sentinel."

"Apropos of your splendid article, Glenwild Plantation, in latest vintage of The Grenada Sentinel, beg to call your attention to a few things, not irrelevant to the case, especially as to the Payne Family whom you mention."
"Jacob Payne whom you name as once owner of this valuable estate, perhaps was J. U. Payne, New Orleans, at whose home (Continued on page 8)

THE RIGHT TO WORK?

CITIZENS ENTERTAINED BY C. OF C. MONDAY NIGHT

(By J. K. Morrison)

The Chamber of Commerce threw the doors of the Community Building wide open to the citizens of Grenada Monday night. The invitation was made to come and break bread with the organization. President J. B. Perry, Jr., handed the gavel to Banker Henry Ray who acted as toastmaster. He opened the meeting with a bang and roared each speaker that he introduced.

He made a good speaking effort as he got nearly everybody at the meeting to say something. Youth and age met. A number of the younger business men piloted by Mr. Fred Lickfold came to the meeting in a body and not a one of them escaped saying something. Chairman Ray stressed upon them the fact that the older fellows have worn the shoes a mighty long time and are getting gray in the cause that soon they would have some shoes to abandon and wanted them to step in to keep Grenada on the upward trend. It was like an old time Methodist experience meeting. The general theme was that the present organization had one big battle and that was to fight the Hosiery mill through to victory. The victory was a smashing one and the meeting was to remind the members that there are yet more worlds to conquer.

The leaders were afraid that the membership would be content to remain right where the victory was won. The orders were to keep marching as the biggest battles are yet to come.

Expressions of appreciation of Mr. E. L. Morrow were made and congratulations for his good fortune in being selected to help introduce.

Texans to Welcome "K. M. B." Train Party at Ft. Worth

Mesdames Joe M. Brown, R. Pressgrove, and Blanche Mattingly in Party

Jackson, Miss., June 25—Hundreds of former Mississippians will join thousands of other Texans in welcoming the "Know Mississippi Better" Train party when it arrives in Fort Worth on August 1st, returning from Mexico and California after a fifteen day good will tour advertising the advantages of Mississippi. Cooperating with the Mississippi Club of Texas, the director of the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta, which is now in progress, has designated August 1st as "Know Mississippi Better" Day in honor of the visiting Mississippians, according to a letter to Ex-Governor Dennis Murphree from Miss Margaret Hall, Director of Special Events of the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta.

In addition to the courtesies which will be extended to the "Know Mississippi Better" Train party by the management of the Frontier Fiesta in Fort Worth, the members of the Mississippi Club of Texas are arranging to give the party of two hundred visiting Mississippians a dinner or barbecue, at which Governor Alfred will be present to extend an official greeting.

According to Miss Mamie O'Neal, Secretary of the Fort Worth Chapter of the Mississippi Club of Texas, and to Mr. W. A. Scott, of Cleburne, Texas, State Secretary, members of the club are enthusiastic over the prospective visit of their friends and former neighbors in Mississippi and it is highly probable that the annual picnic of the Mississippi Club will be scheduled for Saturday, July 31, in order to give members of the Mississippi Club from all over Texas an opportunity to greet the visiting Mississippians and attend the annual picnic at the same time. The Texas Mississippi Chapter has a chapter in each of the 253 counties in Texas and its membership is well over fifty thousand native Mississippians.

Among those in the "Know Mississippi Better" Train party from this county are: Mrs. Joe M. Brown, Mrs. Rice Pressgrove, and Mrs. Blanche Mattingly, all of Grenada.

No Picnic For Mother If She Had To The Cooking—75,000 Meals a Day

CARRY ON

(By J. K. Morrison)

That is the motto of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. E. L. Morrow has accepted a position with the hosiery mill that he helped to bring to Grenada. The board will hold the office that will be used by Mr. Morrow, who will act as part time secretary. The C. of C. has accomplished much and answers the query, what good does a Chamber of Commerce do for a city?

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of Grenada. It speaks authoritatively because it represents the business interests. There are yet things to be done for Grenada. Emphasis is placed upon the shortage of houses. It will take cooperation to help Grenada keep ahead of the demand for homes.

There is much to be done for agriculture. Grenada is the heart of a rich farming area. There is an opportunity for getting processing plants that will utilize our surplus farm products.

There is a big horse show to be put on and that takes cooperation. It is going to bring visitors to Grenada. Grenada's name will run in the press of this area.

There is an agricultural building to be completed, a warehouse and cold storage plant to serve farmers and help them in marketing their products.

An organization is needed to keep and build confidence in the city in which you live. It takes community spirit to develop a place, that is what sells itself to people looking for a place to locate.

The Goodmans were impressed with the business men that sought them to locate here. These gentlemen believed in Grenada, they influenced the Goodmans to have some of this faith.

In these days when business and capital are at each other's throat the business men are needed to keep the peace. Grenada can make it the city of contented labor. There will be trouble makers who will sow discord among workers. A Chamber of Commerce can keep the peace and see that both labor and capital get a fair deal and that working people are enabled to make a living in peace.

All hail to the C. of C. May the good work go on.

Washington, D. C.—Boy Scouts' Jamboree would be a picnic for mother if she had to do the cooking... not at a camping party requiring 75,000 meals to be served each day for ten days.

Even the thought of preparing a breakfast of some 50,000 eggs or of making hot cakes for 25,000 hungry mouths is almost too large an order for mother, while the prospect of the 13,000 pounds of meat needing preparation for a single meal would undoubtedly result in her hasty retreat from the kitchen and emphatic resignation.

Yet that is the order undertaken by the Boy Scouts of America for their first National Jamboree from June 30th to July 19th in Washington, D. C., where approximately 75,000 meals will be served up each day of this great encampment.

To handle the cooking for such a tremendous group, 25 kitchens have been set up on the Jamboree grounds from which each of 816 provisional Scout Troops will draw steaming hot rations already cooked for serving which they will take to their troop dining tents in thermos cans.

Camp chefs have estimated that approximately 250 tons of food-stuffs will thus be consumed daily at the Jamboree, including:

- 900 bushels of potatoes each meal.
- 13,000 pounds of bread each meal.
- 25,000 quarts of milk daily.
- 4,000 pounds of butter daily.
- 2 tons of sugar daily.
- 50,000 eggs for one meal.
- 1,200 gallons of any named vegetables per meal, such as tomatoes, corn, succotash, string beans, etc.

Mr. A. P. Garner Sends Card

The editor received a postal card from Mr. A. P. Garner, of Baton Rouge, La., which he appreciates very much. Mr. Garner and daughter, Margaret Eskridge and son, Albert, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Garner for several days last week. Mr. Garner wrote as follows:

"We enjoyed our visit to Grenada very much. It is a beautiful little city. Regards."

MEDICAL DIRECTOR WARNS FOURTH OF JULY SWIMMERS

Predicting that there will probably be more swimmers in the water on the Fourth of July than on any other day of the summer, Dr. Robert A. Fraser, Chief Medical Director of the New York Life Insurance Company offers three simple rules which should go far in preventing the large number of swimming accidents which occur every year during the summer months.

Dr. Fraser has been making a special study of hot weather accidents and disabilities. "If everyone," he says, "will remember the following three rules many lives will be spared and much sorrow avoided: First, never go swimming alone; second, keep out of the water at least one full hour after a meal; third, never dive into water until you are sure of its depth."

"They are just 'common rules,'" Dr. Fraser said, "yet failure to observe them probably accounted for the great majority of the 5,500 swimming fatalities estimated by the National Safety Council for the year 1935, the latest figures that are available."

"Many people are drowned every year because they insist on going swimming alone and are powerless to help themselves when seized with a cramp or faced with some other sudden emergency."

"As for keeping out of the water directly after eating, a life guard at one of the large semi-public swimming pools here in the East tells me that he and the other guards know that their busy period will occur in the hour between two and three o'clock every day, when diners rush from the table into the water and are seized with cramps. More people get into difficulty during that hour than at any other time during the day.

"And finally, the dangers of diving into water without first knowing the depth are obvious to every one."

Two Common Emergencies

A large percentage of swimming fatalities are the result of the swimmer losing his head when faced with an emergency. It is imperative to keep a steady head. When suddenly caught in a swift current, Dr. Fraser points out that it is foolish and dangerous to fight the force of the water. Better, pick out a spot on shore, well down the stream, and let the water bear you along while you slowly work yourself to land, letting the current carry you.

When unexpectedly caught in rough water, do not try to ride over the waves. Keep low in the water and when a wave is seen coming, hold the breath and go through it, thus conserving strength. Work your way slowly to shore, resting frequently. Lie flat, don't try to stand on the water, and keep the chin submerged.

Arm and Leg Cramps

Most arm and leg cramps pass off very quickly, according to Dr. Fraser.

The U. S. public is overwhelmingly against John L. Lewis and his C. I. O., and his sit-down technique is highly unpopular even among factory workers, according to Fortune Quarterly Survey, whose scientific sampling of public opinion on this subject is revealed today with the publication of the July issue of Fortune Magazine.

Of those questioned, including all walks of life, 29.8 per cent favored the A. F. of L. while the C. I. O. polled only 10.8 per cent. Six and four-tenths per cent favored both union movements. Against both were 17 per cent, 24.7 per cent did not know which they preferred, 11.3 per cent were indifferent. The only group favoring the C. I. O., was the factory workers, 27.2 per cent of whom backed the Lewis faction as against 21.5 per cent for the A. F. L.

"The very negativeness of these results is decisive," Fortune reports, "for it shows that 53 per cent of the nation has come thru a barrage of tons of newspaper on this lively struggle in a mood of hostility, indifference, and indecision."

"On the positive side it is also decisive, because those who favor one of the rival union organizations line up nearly three to one with the old A. F. of L. against the C. I. O. And this means that John L. Lewis has a tremendous job of public relations before him, as William Green (A. F. L. leader) says 'organized labor cannot win strikes or establish and maintain itself as a vital force in the economic life of the nation' without the support of public opinion."

A break-down of the figures reveals that 35.0 per cent of the prosperous class and 41.6 per cent of the executives preferred the A. F. L. to the C. I. O. while only 7.3 per cent of the prosperous class and 8.2 per cent of the executives leaned to the C. I. O. Even the poor were with the A. F. L. by 29.1 per cent to 13.8 per cent, leaving the C. I. O. supreme only with factory workers, 27.2 to 21.5 per cent.

"Here," Fortune points out, "is plenty of ammunition to back up the C. I. O. organizers' declaration at the A. F. of L. is the stooge of the bosses and not the champion of labor. Of all occupations, executives like it the most, factory labor or the least. Of all economic levels, the prosperous like it the most, the poor the least. Here is the embarrassing monument to William Green's conservatism and the reason why the C. I. O., generally unpopular though it appears to be, is going to town with labor and the A. F. of L. is not."

Fortune also found that of the 51.3 per cent shown by the questionnaire to favor a third term for President Roosevelt, 57.9 per cent were C. I. O. sympathizers while only 3.8 per cent were A. F. L. adherents. Of the 51.4 per cent opposing a third term, 60.3 per cent were A. F. L. backers, only 39 per cent C. I. O. sympathizers.

"So the split in organized labor seems to run sharply down into political opinions," the magazine finds, "and if Lewis takes Roosevelt, perhaps Green should play with the Republicans—and the Republicans with him."

On the question of sit-down strikes, 74.4 per cent of those interviewed (Continued on page 3)

Nothing Cheap About This Thief

Knoxville, Tenn., June 30—There as nothing cheap about the thief who broke into the salesroom of the Buschbaum Motor Co., Pontiac dealer here. He made off with the highest price model the factory makes, an eight-cylinder sedan.

A side window was broken through which he entered the show room. The car was taken out the back. While police may respect his choice, they can't condone his unethical methods of acquiring the car. Right now they are looking for a thief who is satisfied with only the best. When they find him they'll point out that not even a Pontiac is excuse enough to waive convention.

terviewed disapproved and thought they should be stopped, only 16.9 per cent favored them, while 4 per cent were indifferent and 3.5 per cent did not know what they thought on the matter.

In the factory labor class, 11.8 per cent believed the sit-downs should be stopped "even if bloodshed is necessary," 47.2 per cent if such strike is not necessary, a total of 59 per cent.

This trend holds among the executives, of whom 32.9 per cent called for a halt "even if bloodshed is necessary," while 55 per cent desired a stop provided no bloodshed is necessary, a total of 88.2 per cent.

Making up the small minority favoring sit-downs were 14.1 per cent who gave their O. K. provided "labor does not carry them too far," and 2.8 per cent who said the technique should be used whether legal or not.

Six and eight-tenths per cent of the executives believed in sit-downs in moderation, only nine-tenths of one per cent if the technique is illegal.

Of the factory workers, 28.7 per cent favored sit-downs in moderation and 6.2 per cent whether the strikes are legal or not.

"Eventually then," says Fortune, "William Green was conspicuously right when he declared that public opinion will not support sit-down strikes. What he said went for three out of every four people. He might have gone further and made the more sensational statement that factory workers themselves oppose sit-down strikes and still been correct, for there are 59 per cent of them agreeing with the executives that sit-downs should be stopped, and only 6.2 per cent who propose that labor should use them whether they are legal or not. American labor, then, is essentially conservative at heart."

Even among the C. I. O. adherents the sit-down lost out, 48.5 to 47.1, and less than a tenth of them believed in opposing the law on the matter.

Fortune also takes up the question of compulsory union incorporation, advanced by some on the grounds that it would provide a means of enforcing union liability for contracts and regulating strike power, and opposed by John L. Lewis who holds that incorporation would open the way to hostile interference with unions and would expose their funds to damage suits resulting from actions for which they were not responsible.

Here the C. I. O. camp is deserted by his subjects. The returns in favor of incorporation amounted to 72.9 per cent whereas only 5 per cent were against, and there were 22.1 who could not decide.

The factory workers' answers were 62.4 per cent for incorporation, 9.3 per cent against, and 28.3 per cent undecided. The executives' responses were 68.9 per cent for, 3.3 against, and 5.8 undecided.

These extremes of opinion, Fortune says, "indicate an overwhelming belief, even within labor itself, that with the new power of unions should go new legal responsibility. Perhaps among the workers who favor incorporations may also be a lingering belief that this might tend to prevent misuse of union funds.

The State Plant Board Says

Watermelons will soon need protection against the striped cucumber beetles. Farmers in South Mississippi are already inquiring about remedies. Dusting the melons with a mixture of 1 part sodium fluosilicate and 3 parts hydrate (slacked) lime is probably the best remedy, but if the fluosilicate cannot be obtained use 1 part lead arsenate or calcium arsenate and 10 parts lime. Cover the plants thoroughly with the dust and repeat at 10-day intervals as long as necessary.

Tomato fruitworms may do serious damage during the next few weeks unless controlled. Dust the plants thoroughly at 10-day intervals with straight calcium arsenate dust as for the boll weevil. If early blight is present also, it will be best to use a spray of Bordeaux Mixture to which a pound of powdered lead arsenate has been added.

Fraser. "Do not 'fight' such a cramp," Dr. Fraser warns, "but turn over on your side and swim as best you can, resting the 'cramped' member. The more you 'fight' this kind of a cramp, the worse it becomes and you will soon exhaust yourself and be in serious difficulty."

Even experienced, competent swimmers should not attempt long distances, or go far from shore, unless accompanied by someone in a boat, Dr. Fraser advises. The fact that a particular course was covered safely in the past is no guarantee that the individual will be so fortunate again. Wind, current, temperature, the swimmer's physical condition, there are many factors beyond control that may bring disaster unless there is a boat close by with assistance ready.

Learn How To Apply Artificial Respiration

The "Prone," or Shafer Method of Artificial Respiration is advocated by practically all life saving agencies and medical authorities and is the one that everyone should understand and be able to use. "Don't roll a drowned person over a barrel or hold him up by the heels for the water to run out," Dr. Fraser warns. "Such practices are dangerous."

In administering Artificial Respiration, place the patient face down on the ground, one arm extended forward, the other bent to form a cushion for the head which is turned on one side. The body should lie on a distinct pitch, the head being lower than the feet.

Using your fingers, force the patient's tongue to the front of the mouth, assuring free passage of air into the lungs. This is very important and must be accomplished.

Now straddle one of the patient's knees, facing the same direction as the patient, placing yourself just behind the buttocks. Place your palms on the small of the back with fingers pointing down over the two lower ribs.

Keep the arms straight and bend forward so that your entire weight is gradually brought to bear on the patient. Then swing yourself smartly backward, removing all weight from the patient's ribs quickly, while the thorax expands and draws fresh air into the lungs.

Count While You Do It
Learn to apply artificial respiration by "count." Place your palms in position with the count of "one" with the count of "two" let the weight come forward on your stiffened arms; with the count of "three" remove all weight and return to the first position.

Repeat the cycle of movements and keep on repeating for three or four hours if necessary, getting in from 12 to 15 complete cycles of the minute. "Two hours is the minimum period for applying artificial respiration," Dr. Fraser reminds those giving it. "Keeping everlastingly at it is even more important than being a highly skilled operator. Remember, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

One good way to become proficient in the "prone" method is to work with a friend, taking turns being patient and rescuer, until you have mastered the simple movements and have the little trick of the "one, two, three" count.

MISSISSIPPI PRESBYTERIANS ARRANGE TO PAY OFF OLD DEBT

chant of Forest; W. D. Lowe, oil mill manager of Newton; Newton Caldwell, lumberman, of Hazlehurst; Ernest Long, wholesale groceryman of Ripley; and Judge John M. Kuykendall, of Charleston. Dr. O. M. Andersen, Superintendent of Education for the Synod of Mississippi, was field agent in the campaign. About two score volunteer workers in individual churches and communities, did excellent work to make the campaign a success.

The leaders in the campaign and in the Synod's education work believe that the beneficial effort of this debt-paying effort is already proving to be much more far-reaching than the immediate task accomplished, this beneficial effort reaching even to other denominations who like the Synod of Mississippi are facing the question of paying their debts. This fact justifies them in making announcement of the campaign and its successful completion to the public.

In arranging for the payment of the Chickasaw College debt, an embarrassing hindrance to progress in the Synod's educational work is being removed, and the life of the church is being stimulated thereby.

There are indications that the efforts to pay this debt has put morale into individual churches. An illustration is cited in the case of a local church which, while expressing itself as unable to help any in the Chickasaw College campaign, was inspired by the campaign to pay off its own local church debt.

A business man, after hearing a minister present the appeal of this campaign, came forward and expressing appreciation of the message said—"It is time the business world was clapping hands with the church in an effort to bring back a sense of moral obligation and responsibility."

Presbyterian leaders express themselves as feeling that the Chickasaw College campaign has generated a spirit of hopefulness and of more vigorous confidence throughout the Synod of Mississippi, and that this payment of the Chickasaw College obligations is the forerunner of a real advance in the work of this denomination in Mississippi.

Loans Made For New Construction

Washington, D. C., June 19.—Of the total of approximately $1,300,000,000 in home mortgage loans made on one to four family men-farm houses during 1936, $1,000,000,000 was made by the Federal Home Loan Bank or eligible for membership in the Bank System, loaned $1,000,000,000 or 54 per cent, John H. Fahey, Chairman of the Board, announced today.

These loans were made for new construction, refinancing, purchase, and modernization of urban dwellings. Individuals loaned about $300,000,000 of the aggregate total or 30 per cent, and commercial banks $300,000,000, or 15 per cent, Mr. Fahey stated.

He estimated that loans for new construction amounted to $225,000,000 in 1936, of which $165,000,000 was loaned by member institutions in the Federal Home Loan Bank System.

At the close of 1936, home mortgage loans outstanding in the United States aggregated $17,799,000,000, Mr. Fahey said. Members of the Bank System, together with the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, under supervision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, held a combined total of $4,806,000,000, or 27 per cent. The holdings of all institutions eligible for membership in the System, added to this, brings the total to $10,560,000,000, or about 60 per cent.

The Board, created by Congress in 1932, supervises the Bank System, comprising 12 Federal Home Loan Banks. These have $3,959 member institutions, with estimated resources of $3,375,000,000.

The System, Mr. Fahey said, in less than five years has become the largest and most comprehensive mortgage reserve system in the world, operating in the field of small home mortgages. These represent the greatest single unit of the total private debt of the country.

"The experience with the Bank System, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and other agencies under the supervision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, makes it very clear that unless there is a strong reserve system operating in the urban mortgage field, our financial system is not soundly integrated, and neither the Federal Reserve System nor the land and intermediate credit banks can in the future resist successfully the effect of inflationary or deflationary developments in the urban mortgage field," Mr. Fahey continued.

"An effective and conservatively supervised mortgage reserve bank system is absolutely necessary, not only for the protection of mortgage lending institutions and millions of home owners, but also to safeguard the savings of life insurance policy-holders, shareholders, and depositors in building and loan associations and savings banks."

RUNNING WATER AND A NEW KITCHEN SINK

Running water pumped by electricity is a change being brought to many Mississippi homes by the installation of electricity. And to a housewife, water in the house brings thoughts, first of all, of a kitchen sink. Frequently this will require some rearrangement of the kitchen equipment. Miss Loraine Ford, home management specialist at Mississippi State College, says a number of families with this problem have found it an advantage to plan the entire arrangement first before any work is done. She calls attention to several points to consider in deciding the location of the sink. One, of course, is to be sure there will be good lighting and ventilation. The location of the drain and the water pipes has to be considered. As a good deal of food is prepared at the sink and the sink is also the center for the dishwashing, its location with relation to the stove and to the shelves where dishes and silver are stored is important. In choosing a new sink, she calls attention to the importance of taking careful measurements to be sure it will fit into the space intended for it. It should be placed high enough so that those who use it most do not have to stoop when working there. Cupboards may be built under properly constructed sinks, leaving too space for the comfort of the worker.

Acceptance which this youngest of the reserve systems has won, is convincingly shown by the fact that its first financing, recently launched in an uncertain and wavering bond market, was oversubscribed more than twelve times."

OLD AGE BENEFITS—HOW MUCH?

The chief purpose of old-age benefits is to provide a monthly income for industrial and commercial employees, who have reached 65 and are ready to retire.

These monthly benefits will be payable on and after January 1, 1942.

Who will receive old-age monthly benefits in 1942 and thereafter? Working people:

(1) Who were employed in some factory, office, mill, shop, store or in some other line of industry or business, included under the law;

(2) Who are employed part of each year (one day or more) in at least five different years between January 1, 1937, and the day they reached the age of 65;

(3) Who earned as much as $2,000 (in all) between January 1,

1937, and the day they reached the age of 65;

(4) Who have attained the age of 65 and retired from their jobs in business or industry.

No old-age monthly benefit payments may exceed $35 per month and none will be less than $10 per month.

How will you estimate old-age benefits? How much will the monthly payments be?

On the first $3,000 earned, the rate is 1/2 of 1%. On earnings over $3,000 and under $45,000, the rate is 1/12 of 1%. On earnings from $45,000 up to $129,000, the rate is 1/24 of 1%. Here is a table which shows the amount of old-age benefits based on wages earned in accordance with the provisions as stated above:

Total wages, not counting wages from a single employer in excess of $3,000 a year	Percent of total wages payable as monthly benefits	Total amount of monthly benefit
$ 2,000	1/2 per cent of the first $3,000	$10.00
2,500	1/12 per cent of the next $3,000	12.50
3,000	1/24 per cent of all over $3,000	15.00
3,500		15.42
4,000		15.83
4,500		16.25
5,000		16.67
10,000		20.83
15,000		25.00
20,000		29.17
30,000		37.50
40,000		45.83
50,000		54.17
60,000		62.50
80,000		83.33
100,000		104.17
120,000		125.00
129,000		135.00

Employees Who Earn More Than $3,000 a Year

Under the Old-Age Benefits provisions of the Social Security Act, nothing over $3,000 a year from any one employer counts toward benefits.

For instance, a man who earns $10,000 a year as an employee of one firm and is employed at that salary for 12 years (between January 1, 1937, and the day he reaches the age of 65) will calculate his old-age benefits on total earnings of $36,000—and not his actual earnings of $120,000.

Another man who works for the same firm at a salary of less than $3,000 a year, should calculate his old-age benefits on the full amount of his earnings.

A worker who is employed by two or more different firms, calculates his benefits on wage earnings up to $3,000 a year from each firm.

Suppose a linotype operator, who is employed by a newspaper and also does part time work as an employee of a job printing shop earns $3,600 a year as a newspaper employee and $1,200 a year as an employee of the printing concern. He works 10 years for both firms, between January 1, 1937, and the day he reaches the age of 65.

On the wages that he earns from the newspaper, counts only $3,000 a year, which in 10 years amounts to $30,000. Count his entire earnings from the printing shop, which in 10 years amounts to $12,000. Therefore, a total of $42,000 will be credited on his wage record. According to the table given above, his old-age benefit payments will be $55.83 per month.

The Community House Saturday night at 8 o'clock is the time and the place for the entertainment in Grenada. This program is being sponsored by the Grenada County Library in order to raise money for the library; the money raised in each community will go to buy new books for that community.

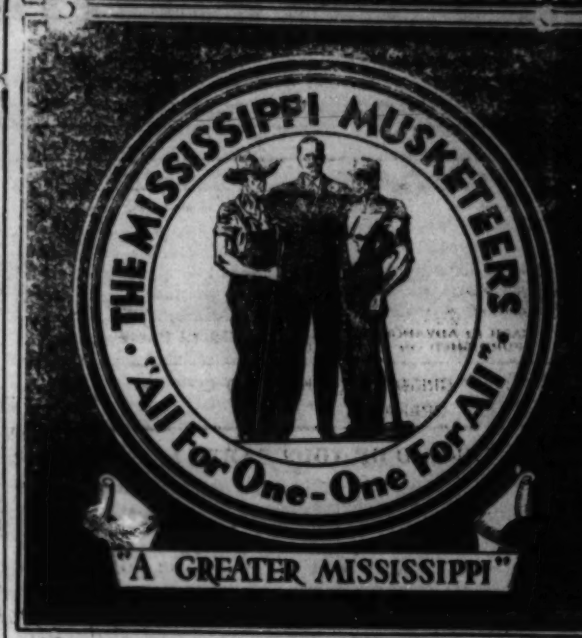

Jitney-Jungle To Have Fire Sale

This issue of The Sentinel carries an ad of the Jitney-Jungle announcing their fire sale which begins Friday, July 2. Much of the merchandise that was carried at their former location, which was recently destroyed by fire, was declared unfit for sale and has been disposed of. The rest of the stock has been thoroughly gone over and is only slightly damaged by smoke and water. They have been busy for the past two weeks sorting and shelving this stock in preparation for their sale. They ask the kind consideration of their customers who are in need of groceries at this time and assure them that they have some real bargains to offer.

Many Farm Products Will Be Exhibited At The Free State Fair

Multiple Crop Exhibits Planned For State Fair in Jackson, Miss., Oct. 11-16.

Mississippi's rapid progress in diversified farming which last year brought a $281,000,000 return will be portrayed in multiple crop exhibits at the 1937 Mississippi Free State Fair, to be held in Jackson, October 11-16.

A mammoth corn show, a unique sweet potato and sweet potato starch exhibit, a sugar cane and pickle display, a cured meats exhibit, a general crops exhibit and big cotton show, comprise some of the features that will go to make a real agricultural show.

In addition, the importance and place of forestry in a state land use program and in a growing timber industry will be pictured in an extensive exhibit which will be put on by the State Forestry Commission.

How to control plant disease and insect pests that annually take heavy toll of the farmer's crops will be shown in an educational exhibit which will be installed by the State Plant Board.

The farm crop displays will represent the state's important cash and food crops and will come from those sections of the State to which their production is best adapted.

A wealth of information will be included in the displays. Soil adaptation, the best varieties to plant, the most profitable fertilizers to use, approved methods of culture, harvesting methods, marketing practices—these are some of the features which will interest farmers.

Beef Cattle Show To Be Held at the Mississippi State Fair

State Fair Management Appropriates $1000.00 To Restore Beef Cattle Show

Mississippi's rapid growing and fast improving beef cattle industry which last year brought state producers upwards of $10,000,000 in cash returns will be represented at the 1937 Mississippi Free State Fair, to be held in Jackson, October 11-16.

Restoration of the beef cattle show as one of the most important features of the state's big agricultural expositions is made possible by the appropriation of $1,000 for this purpose by the State Fair management and by the public spirited cooperation of some of the state's leading breeders and producers.

Beef cattle were dropped from the list of livestock exhibits at the State Fair during depression years because of a lack of funds to provide necessary premium lists. This year a novel plan will be followed for the first time. Select animals from the best breeding and show herds of the State will be selected by an association of livestock specialists of Mississippi State College, state and district livestock officials and the breeders.

This method will assure a blue-ribbon beef cattle exhibition. The best from both the Hereford and Aberdeen Angus breeds will be shown. A Mississippi breeder, T. C. Fotts, of Grenada, this week purchased the top bull from the best Hereford herd in the United States, paying the imposing sum of $3,700 for the outstanding show. This bull is expected to be one of a number of exceptionally fine individuals at this year's State Fair.

Farm and Home Week Miss. State College July 26-30

Many Problems Confronting Mississippi Agriculture To Be Discussed

(By Lottie Wood)

Farm and Home Week will be held July 26 to 30 at Mississippi State College. With conservation uppermost in the minds of farmers, the theme of this year's Farm and Home Week will stress this important subject as it applies to the farm and the home. In addition, the present agricultural situation demands that careful consideration be given to many other problems confronting the future of Mississippi agriculture. Among the important problems to be discussed will be the new farm program, land utilization, farm credit, and the adjustment of rural youth.

Farm and Home Week will offer a wide variety of courses and afford ample opportunity for discussions on many important subjects. Instructional work will be offered each day from 9:00 to 10:45 a. m. in agricultural engineering, agricultural economics and rural sociology, animal husbandry, craft, clothing, dairying, food preservation, horticulture and forestry, home management, nutrition, poultry and soils and crops. Various demonstrations will be conducted each afternoon on such subjects as farm machinery, agriculture, culling the flock, dairy cattle judging, etc.

Tours will be conducted each morning to the various buildings, barns, and experimental plots and other places of educational interest on the campus and in the surrounding community.

Each subject matter department will have an exhibit in the Rife Range, Basement, College Dormitory which should be of interest to all farmers and home makers. Among the exhibits will be the latest developments in equipment for the farm and home.

Each morning, in Lee auditorium, from 11:00 to 12:15, headline speakers, men and women prominent in state and national affairs, will be brought to the college to speak during the general assembly hour.

Ample time will be allowed for rest and recreation during the week. Night programs will feature a style revue, community singing, amateur and stunt program, a livestock show and a fine festival and square dance.

Rooms will be furnished in the college dormitories at 35c per night. Visitors will be required to bring bed linen, towels, and toilet articles. Meals may be secured in the college cafeteria at 75c per day.

For further information, see your county or home demonstration agent or write to W. H. Elliott, chairman, Farm and Home Week Committee, State College, Miss. A copy of the complete program will be available by July 15.

COME TO THE AID OF YOUR PARTY

Owing to the fact that the following editorial which we ran last week was "muddled up", and at the request of several friends, we are reproducing it this week:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." We have written that sentence many, many times before at school practicing the touch system on the typewriter, but never before has it meant as much to us as it does now.

We are beginning to believe that we are at the beginning of the end of the Democratic Party. Out of the Democratic Party is being forged a new Labor Party with labor in the saddle.

The police and the governors in the strike torn states, Secretary Perkins and President Roosevelt have apparently given no consideration to the employees. The governors in some of the states have ordered plants closed. The industrial leaders have been told by the President that they should be willing to sign bargains they have made verbally with C. I. O.

It is sheer folly to suppose that by the signing of these bargaining contracts we will have industrial peace for the reason these contracts do not impose equal, and equally enforceable responsibilities upon employers and labor unions. What would a signed contract between any industry and C. I. O. be worth? It would be nothing more than a mere scrap of paper. Should C. I. O. at any time choose to disregard the contract, in whole or in part, the industry could do nothing about it. The Pittsburgh Mailers Union forced an indefinite suspension of three Pittsburgh papers. The papers held a contract with the union running until January 7, 1938, yet the mailers walked out and refused to negotiate or arbitrate.

Under the Wagner Act employers are required to enter into collective bargaining with the employees. They are required to carry out the bargains made and penalties are provided for failure to do so. Yet no penalties are provided should the union fail to carry out their part of the bargain. There can be no cooperation unless two or more parties are involved. Is this cooperation to bring industry back to normalcy when the union wants the whole hog or none.

It is estimated that this wide spread labor controversy has cost $12,000,000 and twelve lives. The mails have been tied up. Freight has not been allowed to move in some sections for ten days. The unions now threaten to call a general strike in and around Warren, Ohio affecting 12 industrial plants, steel, telephone and electrical as well as W. P. A. They also threaten to unionize government employees. It looks like the only way the backbone of the strike is to be broken is for the people to rise up, show their resentment and force Congress to do something about it.

The only way to make the unions responsible for any contract that they might enter into is for Congress to pass a law requiring them to incorporate and make them legally liable, their officers and members for the management of their affairs and especially for any bargaining agreement that they may make with the employers. The leaders of the unions draw up agreements and adopt policies without consulting the members. We doubt that 1% of the members know what they are striking about until they have read the papers, (and the employees of the papers are out on strike) and that is after they are out on strike. The leaders assess dues against the members and are not held accountable for the disposition of the money. High salaries are paid to a few with money extracted from workers that have earned their living by hard and faithful work. The industries are required to pay big corporation taxes. We wonder if union heads pay any taxes at all? Does the government not have any way of taxing them under our existing laws?

The value of many industrial securities has dropped as much as 40% since this wave of strikes first started. The people are being forced to bear the burden of the strike both going and coming. Priests have advanced, strikers have been placed on relief and the government is losing hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes on account of the industrial plants being idle.

In England there is a law known as the Industrial Disputes Act. This law, enacted in 1927 when labor thought it had the government by the nap of the neck, was the outgrowth of the general strike of 1926. This act makes it illegal to picket in such a manner that it will intimidate workers desiring to remain on the job or cause any disturbance which will tend to hinder the normal operation of any industry. Penalties are provided for violation of this law and it just AIN'T done. Has the British Government got more backbone than the United States Government? Has Congress got courage enough to take action and bring this reign of terror to and end or are they going to continue to piddle around and allow the unions to seize control of our government?

President Roosevelt showed real leadership when he closed all the banks in the nation in 1933. Does he not possess this leadership now?

The present steel strike crisis "demonstrates the serious unrest" sweeping the country, Senator Lewis, Democrat, Illinois, declared in asking the Senate:

"Are we to be indifferent to these facts which foretell of the possibility of civil war?"

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." Are they going to do this or are they going to let the radicals seize the Democratic Party and form a New Labor Party? If so, we suggest that the real Democrats join with the Republicans and form a new Peoples Party.

FOR A HAPPY HOLIDAY

The "Glorious Fourth" can be just as glorious as we choose to make it. This year the long week-end created by the holiday will intensify the hazards which the Fourth always produces. The watchword should be, "Take care!"

Independence Day celebrates the independence of a nation. The coming week-end will demonstrate vividly the modern interdependence of people. Great streams of traffic pouring over the highways will show how essential are mutual regard and courtesy among drivers. Fireworks will demonstrate it too. A "firecracker thrown by another" is, according to the National Conservation Bureau, the greatest single cause of the tremendous number of fireworks accidents every Fourth of July. At the lakes, impudent swimmers will again remind us that human life must be risked to save the life of a drowning person.

Reasonable care divides a happy holiday from the tragedies which mar it. Reasonable care will insure you, your family, and the other fellow against mishap. For instance:

If you drive—see that your car is in good mechanical condition. Check tires, lights, brakes, steering mechanism, windshield wiper, rear-view mirror, horn. Drive skillfully, at a reasonable speed. Observe the rules and courtesies of the road.

If you must use fireworks—give yourself plenty of space. Keep away from children and animals and buildings. Throw firecrackers away from people and inflammable materials, not at them. Never hold an exploding firecracker, nor set them off under a bottle or can. Cauterize the smallest wound immediately—tetanus poisoning works fast and kills.

If you go swimming—swim in safe and protected places. Know your limits as a swimmer. Wait two hours after eating. Avoid shallow places.

WHO FOOTS THE BILL?

Strikes cost money.

That salient fact must be overlooked as violence steals the headlines. But as dangerous as it is when mobs run rampant through the country, halting mail trucks and interfering with other people who want to work, the long term factor that strikes are costly cannot be overlooked.

First, they are costly to the minorities who decide to strike. Secondly, they are costly to the greater numbers who are forced out of employment in their own plant or who are laid off because a customer plant has been closed or a source of supply cut off. They are costly to the shopkeepers, the doctors, lawyers and candlestick makers in every community. With losses running into billions of dollars, they are cutting heavily into the national income, out of which comes the living standard of all the people.

The factors are felt immediately by the various groups directly affected. But the toll that the present wave of strike and compulsory wage increase will take in the future of the buyer of manufactured goods cannot be calculated.

Let's look at it calmly. From 70 to 80 per cent of the cost of manufactured products is labor cost. As these costs go up and up, the selling price of goods must go up, too. That is when the consumer begins to feel the effects of an economy dictated by violence rather than by peaceful consultation. And the farmer, caught in the squeeze, finds himself pinched as the goods that he buys in the city becomes dearer and dearer.

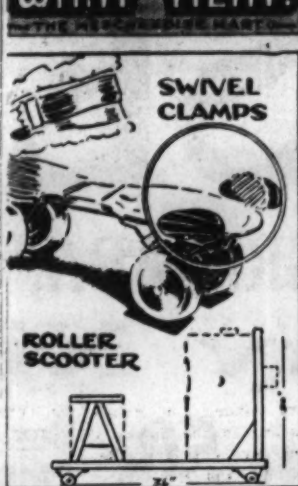

GRENADA C. OF C. PROVES VALUE TO COMMUNITY

The Grenada County Chamber of Commerce has already proven its value to our community. The hosiery mill has been located. Feelers have been put out for other industries. Those who have contributed, paid their dues (and we are wrong about contributing, we should have said invested) should feel that they have done much toward the up-building of Grenada. Grenada is going forward. The Chamber of Commerce is not stopping with locating a hosiery mill, they are seeking other industries.

Industry wants to move South. We have the labor, natural resources and the spirit of cooperation among us to attract them. Let's not stop, stick with the Chamber and let's go forward.

IF YOU ARE BEHIND WITH WHAT YOU PLEDGED TO PAY, PAY UP. THE CHAMBER NEEDS THE MONEY TO MEET BILLS THAT HAVE ACCRUED AND TO REACH OUT FOR BIGGER AND BETTER THINGS.

WHAT NEXT?

Constant improvement in roller skates bespeaks a growing interest in the sport. One such significant improvement is the swivel clamp, illustrated above, which adapts the skate to varying types and sizes of shoes, thus giving the skate a better grip and greatly reduces the possibility of it coming off. The sketch below pictures how a home made roller scooter may be built on the truck section of a skate. Attach truck assemblies to foot-board with truck brackets facing each other. Mount a wood steering bar crosswise of front upright. Brace steering post and (an optional seat) as shown. Solid lines in drawing indicate use of boards while the dotted lines indicate use of buses.

Sweet Potatoes a Promising Crop On Mississippi Farms

Variety of Markets, Plus Expanding Industrial Usage, Major Income Source.

What with starch factories, canning plants, shipments to distant markets, and home use as profitable market outlets, sweet potatoes have a great future in Mississippi agriculture, writes J. S. Holton, commissioner of agriculture, in advocating continuing expansion of the producing industry by further planting at this season.

Calling attention to the fact that Mississippi ranks among the great sweet potato producing states, the Commissioner points out that during the five-year period the average annual harvest in Mississippi was 6,136,000 bushels, which, while slightly exceeded by yields in the states of North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, represents, nevertheless, a tenth of the nation's harvest. Mississippi's average annual harvest of 92 bushels per acre compares with 84 in Alabama, 95 in Tennessee, and 71 in Louisiana, and the U. S. average of 88.5 bushels.

"At this point the favorable comparison ends. Of 11,234 carloads of sweet potatoes shipped to the central markets of the country through June 5, Louisiana has shipped 3,046 carloads, North Carolina 529, Tennessee 646, Alabama 306 carloads. During this period Mississippi shipped 107 carloads.

"An important reason why Mississippi's marketings are so far out of line with production is that of specialized production in other states and scattered production largely for home use in Mississippi. Thus, in Alabama areas specialize in production of early potatoes, while in Louisiana and Tennessee curing houses are available in centralized communities in which potatoes are produced in greatest number. Both of these marketing opportunities are available to farmers of our state.

"The sweet potato starch factory at Laurel opens an entirely new field. In this area 300 contract farmers produced an average of 131 bushels per acre, and one outstanding farmer harvested an average yield of 350 bushels per acre on 25 acres. America needs 200 starch plants similar to the one in Laurel and others will doubtless follow. Communities having in mind the possibility of a sweet potato starch factory may best further that end by encouraging widespread production.

"Now is the time for planting vine cuttings, which yield the choicest of potatoes, whether for eating, for shipment, or as the source of plants for another year."

Mississippi Weekly Cotton Insect Report

State College, Miss.—Very little change occurred in the boll weevil situation in Mississippi the past week, according to reports of State Plant Board inspectors who examined 132 fields in 29 counties. Summarizing their reports, R. P. Colmer, Chief Inspector of the Board, states weevils were found in 101 of the 129 fields examined or 78.3% as compared with 63% a week ago and approximately 60% this date last year. The average infestation was 8.7% as compared with 7% last week, 1% in 1936 and 16 per cent in 1935.

The highest infestations reported were from three small fields in Chickasaw county where the percentage of infested squares was 48 per cent, 48 per cent, and 67 per cent. In the southeastern part of the state where rains have been general, the infestation is above the average and if the rains continue there will probably be considerable weevil damage. In the northern part of the state the continued dry, hot weather will probably check any increase in the infestation. No weevils were found in fields examined in Coahoma and Union counties and fields in the following counties show infestations of 10 per cent or more: Attala, Chickasaw, George, Holmes, Monroe, Oktibbeha, Panola, Stone, and Washington. This does not necessarily mean that the above named counties are the only ones having an infestation of 10 per cent or more as it is impossible to make examinations in all the counties of the state.

School Budgets to Be Filed By July 15

County and district school budgets for the 1937-38 session are to be filed in the office of the State Superintendent of Education on or before the 15th of July. All counties and separate school districts are required to file these budgets whether they participate in the state equalizing fund or not. The budget from each county should be accompanied by a budget from each school district within the county, and these should be signed by the trustees of the school and approved by the county superintendent of education. The budgets from separate school districts must be approved by the trustees of the districts.

The final allocation of state funds will be made on or before the first of July, which will enable school superintendents and trustees to know definitely the amount of money that will be available from the state before making up the final budgets. We wish to urge school superintendents and trustees to make up the budgets with much care in order to avoid confusion later. It is the duty of the state superintendent to reject any budget where the expenditures are not in line with the estimated receipts.

The budget law, under which we are now operating, has meant much toward putting the operation of the schools on a sound business basis, and we wish to express our appreciation to all the school people of the state for the wonderful cooperation which has made this possible.

Work Sheets For Grenada, 1936 1937

T. M. Patterson, administrative officer in charge, AAA, Jackson, announced today that 84,853 Mississippi farmers representing over 250,000 producers have signed work sheets under the 1937 agricultural conservation program, covering 3,305,441 base cotton acres.

Patterson said that this compared with 88,132 work sheets signed in 1936 who had a base cotton acreage of 3,402,552 acres. While there was a drop of 3,279 in the number of work sheets signed this year, there are only 97,111 fewer base cotton acres covered than in 1936, the administrator stated. Twenty-four counties signed more work sheets this year than last year.

The record of work sheet signers in 1937 and in 1936 for Grenada county is as follows:

Jackson and Mississippi recently entertained in a royal manner the surviving Confederate Veterans of the War between the States, and from July 4th to 7th inclusive, Jackson will entertain the Mississippi State Convention of the American Legion, and a very large attendance of Legionnaires and the Allied organization, to-wit: The American Legion Auxiliary, Sons of the Legion and the "40 and 8" is expected.

According to State Adjutant Robert Morrow there are 10,862 Legionnaires in the State, to say nothing of the number of the members of the other organizations just named above. They will not all be here, perhaps, but it is expected that the number of legionnaires and visitors in Jackson for the convention will reach approximately 7,000.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the total number of Mississippi soldiers in the world war was 62,345, and that of this number, there are 27,069 eligible for membership in the Legion. There are two veterans hospitals in the State, and the average age of a Mississippi War Veteran of the World War today is forty-seven years.

Quite an elaborate program has been arranged for the four day convention, and decorations in the Capital City will exceed by far all former efforts along this line. It is said, Feature addresses will be made by Governor White, Homer L. Chailleux, National Director of Americanism, and other prominent speakers throughout the convention. The Legion parade will be staged on Monday afternoon, July 5th, beginning at 6 o'clock.

July 1st, 1937 Mississippi's bonded debt, for which the faith and credit of the state is pledged, amounts to $37,008,000, against a total of $41,198,500 in 1934. In 1936 the total assessed valuation of the State was $544,573,702. In 1936, Mississippi had 311,683 farms with a total value of farm lands of $568,000,000. Gross income from livestock, $53,383,000.

On January 1, 1937, there were in the state—81,000 horses, 357,000 mules, 567,000 milch cows, 1,020,000 hogs. In 1935 (latest figures available) the state had 7,062 manufacturing establishments that employed 36,852 people, with a total pay roll of $20,000,000; cost of materials, fuel and power $71,000,000, and an annual output of $131,000,000.

More than 40,000 persons in Mississippi, who had formerly been classed as below the fourth grade level as to education, have been brought to a much higher level educationally during the last four years of effort on the part of the WPA adult educational program.

The State Tax Commission is authority for the statement that under the sales tax token system, there are very few tax dodgers among Mississippi merchants. Sufficient tokens are on hand to supply the entire state, and the Commission states there is no excuse for any merchant not paying the tax, and evaders will be prosecuted in the courts.

Washington news dispatches advise that the WPA Administration has approved a loan of $61,000, and a grant of $49,909 to the Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus. An effort is also being made to secure an authorized loan of $56,000 and a grant of $45,000 from the Federal government for the State Teachers College at Hattiesburg. The WPA has also approved a $36,461 project of improvement for Livingston Park at Jackson.

The State Board of Health announces that a Malaria Training School will be conducted for malaria technicians at the state laboratories in Jackson from June 21st to July 3rd, inclusive. Miss Aimee Wilcox of the National Institute of Health at Washington will conduct the lectures and slide

WASHINGTON SUMMARY
(By Congressman A. L. Ford)
The Senate this week completed its consideration of the Relief Appropriations. One of the most spectacular "revolts" of the year was Majority Leader Joe Robinson's opposition to the passage of the Bill unless amended so as to require the sponsor of non-federal projects to put up 25% of the costs. When his amendment came to a vote Leader Robinson lost—49 to 34. The bill was then passed on Tuesday without a roll call vote.

The House and Senate this week passed without opposition the new Railroad Retirement Act. The President signed the bill on Thursday. On Thursday the House passed the companion railroad bill to tax the railroads and the employees 50% each of the costs of operating the retirement plan.

Upon passage of the Relief Appropriations Bill the Senate took up the Appropriations for the War Department which had previously passed the House. The Senate rejected an amendment which would have reduced the National Guard Appropriation by $228,000. The bill passed Wednesday.

Tuesday, the House passed Congressman Sumner's bill to provide for a new method of trial for federal judges accused of misbehavior. Under this bill charges of misbehavior are to be referred by Congress to the Chief Justice of the United States who will refer the charges to a three man court of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals to try the accused judge. The three man court would have the power to remove the offending judge from office. Under present procedure accused judges must be tried before the United States Senate after impeachment by the House.

The Senate and House have agreed to the extension of the OGC for three years without granting enrollees and officers Civil Service status.

On Thursday the Senate voted to extend present nuisance taxes for two years. The bill has already passed the House.

On Thursday the House passed the Municipal Bankruptcy Bill. This provides that after two-thirds of the creditors of a municipality or drainage district work out an agreement with the debtor then the agreement may be presented to a federal court for final approval.

LAST CALL TO SWEET POTATO GROWERS

As the first of July approaches, the State Plant Board is warning all Mississippi sweet potato growers who expect to sell or give away seed sweet potatoes or potato plants next season that their applications for field inspection must be received by the Board at its offices at State College on or before that date.

Each application must be accompanied by a money order for fifty cents as an advance deposit for certificate tags. The Board states that the money will be refunded to any grower whose fields are condemned on account of disease or who does not apply for tags. Growers are urged to mail their applications without delay as it is necessary for the Board to know the names of all applicants by July 1 in order that the inspectors may arrange their itineraries to cover their districts as economically as possible. Applications should be addressed to State Plant Board, State College, Miss.

demonstrations, and it is understood that laboratory technicians from all over Mississippi and from many other states will attend during the course to take advantage of the study of malarial typing and diagnosis of malarial parasites.

The State Oil and Gas Board held a meeting on June 30th to receive bids for the contract of sinking two additional state gas wells on the old asylum property in Jackson. The State already has three producing wells on this property from which from three to four thousand dollars per month is being paid into the State treasury. With two more producers, the State will soon be receiving a nice sum monthly.

Syphilis Causes as Much Loss of Life as Tuberculosis, as Much Insanity as Whisky

Spurred to action by the highest rate of syphilis in the United States, Mississippi is arming to stamp out the disease according to Dr. D. V. Galloway, health officer in Lauderdale county, where the Mississippi Social Hygiene Association to combat syphilis was organized this spring.

Stating that there were 16,600 new cases and 2,000 deaths from syphilis in Mississippi last year, the health officer pointed out that general alarm at the damage and destruction of this disease has incited the Mississippi Social Hygiene Association to organize every nook and corner of the state in a fight against it.

Syphilis causes as much loss of life as tuberculosis, as much insanity as whiskey, more cripples than infantile paralysis. The total number of cases reported in the state exceeds all other serious infectious diseases put together. The tragedy of this situation is augmented because it is unnecessary. Syphilis is both preventable and curable.

The first indication of syphilis, as a rule, is the appearance of a small ulcer at the point of infection with swollen glands nearby. Within a few days, a skin rash, which may imitate measles, chicken pox or scarlet fever, appears. The mouth and throat become sore, and the inflammation may persist for weeks as chronic tonsillitis or cold sores on the lips. In all of these stages the disease is infectious and may easily be diagnosed by one of two simple laboratory tests—the darkfield examination of the ulcer or the Wassermann blood examination.

If the disease is not recognized and treated in this stage, all signs and symptoms may disappear to return in two or three years as an infectious relapse and then at intervals of a few years for the remainder of the patient's life. A person infected with syphilis is a sick person from that day until he is cured or dies of the disease and its complications.

But he need not suffer. He need not die from this disease. Modern science has perfected a specific which is one of the most satisfactory remedies known to medicine—the so-called standard arsenic, heavy metals treatment. It is effective to 90 per cent of syphilis, but only ten per cent of the cases in this state are under treatment.

Business and professional groups are helping to control the disease by encouraging their employees to have blood tests for syphilis. The church is helping by guiding the younger generation into better ideals of marriage and the home. Schools are aiding by teaching the scientific facts of health and disease. Women's organizations offer invaluable assistance by providing wholesome community recreation. And now two powerful allies, the press and the radio, have joined the crusade and

Washington, D. C.—"Hasta la vista" and not "adieu" said the black-bearded man as he bade his God-speed. Don Fernando De Los Rios, Ambassador of the Spanish Republic, gentle, intellectual and disciple in word and deed of vital democracy—was homeward bound. Senor de los Rios is, by profession, an educator. A former rector of the Madrid University, he lectured in many countries, including the United States, before being called upon to serve his country in the diplomatic field. And now he has been summoned to Valencia to give his superior, a first-hand report of American sentiment toward the battling nation.

To loyalist Spain the fight for moral support is as important as the support of Germany and Italy to General Franco. Money and credit will decide the ultimate "victory" long after the fighting ceases.

John L. Lewis, we are told by one of his confidential friends, is now facing the problem of getting more sheep into the fold and the same time keeping the goats out. Extreme radicals, racketeers, disguised company unions, all itching to make trouble, have adopted C. I. O. labels without even having notified headquarters. Lewis, of course, is making every effort to stop them, realizing that his battles will have been in vain should his followers lose confidence in their leaders.

Professor Austin H. Clark, a genial biologist attached to the Smithsonian Institute, is happier today than he has been in ten years. He may now wear the cross of a knight of the Order of Dannebrog, awarded him in 1927 by the King of Denmark for distinguished services to science.

The learned gentleman, an American citizen, couldn't accept a foreign decoration without the express permission of Congress. Congress finally got around to it last week and granted the professor permission to receive the coveted cross.

Here's hoping this item escapes the eagle-eyed attention of Nazi representatives in Washington or we'll be in for more "cussin'" from Berlin.

Miss Marguerite Le Hand, confidential private secretary to President Roosevelt, recently accepted an honorary LL.D. from Rosary College at River Forest, Ill., and to make matters worse the degree was conferred upon her in the name of Cardinal Mundelein and in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Iowa's Democratic Senator Herring is convinced that the thing most likely to produce sudden adjournment of Congress—should the session threaten to project itself far into the summer—is a continued heat wave. "When I was Governor of Iowa," said the Hawk-eye statesman, "I looked out of my windows at the Capitol in Des Moines every morning regularly, and simply studied the condition of the lawn. As soon as I noticed that the grass was beginning to sear and turn yellow, I knew I wouldn't have the Legislature on my hands very long!" A wise politico is Senator Herring and we accept his views.

"Our ambassadors do not spend all their time practicing Yankee shirt-sleeve diplomacy. William E. Dodd, at present in Berlin in the interest of Uncle Sam, has found the time to turn author. The first volume of a series from Dodd's hand is ironically entitled "Struggles for Democracy." It probably won't be translated into the German language over there. Old fashioned books just aren't any more.

"WHEREAS, while no state in the American Union possesses greater facilities for dairying, these including fortunate climate and rainfall, luxuriant pastureland, and abundant crop production, no state in the Union would be more largely benefitted by the continuation of the growth of dairying and dairy manufacturing until Mississippi can take her place among the great dairy states of the Nation.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Hugh White, Governor of the State of Mississippi (do hereby proclaim Thursday, July 29th, as Mississippi Dairy Day, and do invite the people of Mississippi generally to observe the day appropriately, particularly in respect to the Farm and Home Week program at Mississippi State College."

"Singing River" Down Pascagoula

(Editor's Note: This is another of the articles by the State Game and Fish Commission acquainting sportsmen with ideal fishing spots in Mississippi.)
The "singing river" down Pascagoula swamp-way is humming with fishing activity.

Echoes are those of fishermen advising fellow sportsmen of "swell catches."

Everything to accommodate the fisherman is available in the deep southeast Mississippi fishing area of Jackson, George, Green and Wayne counties. There is warden service by the State Game and Fish Commission, not only for observance of the rules and regulations of the commission but to render aid to the sportsmen.

All types of fresh-water fish are obtainable, including bass, bream, crappie or white perch, catfish and "red bellies." Under state conservation laws, it is necessary to throw back catches of bass under ten inches in length; crappie 8 inches and bream 5 inches.

In addition to Pascagoula river, the main fishing area, there are numerous lakes and head-rivers, creeks and bayous. Good spots are found along the banks of Black Creek and Red Creek.

One of the main types of fishing indulged in in that area is casting. Boats are cut loose and are floated slowly by a guide down or up stream to the next bridge. When the catch is over, motor boats tow the fishermen back into camp.

Ample housing facilities are available, as there are numerous club houses and other houses along the streams. Bait and other equipment are also available. Governor White maintains a camp along the Pascagoula River.

The fishing waters may be reached from several avenues. From Richton to Leaf, and from that point fishing is good north or south. Sportsmen may go by way of Leakeville, Ocean Springs or Vancleave, or turn east at Wiggins via Ramsey Springs.

(Note: The next article will touch on the fishing spots in east Mississippi.)

A Good Spender
In the conduct of its business the railroad is a buyer of practically everything.

It buys a large portion of the country's output of coal, steel, lumber, oil, machinery, rubber, textiles and other major products. It is an important customer of public utilities.

Every branch of business profits from its vast and widely varied purchases—and as the railroad prospers, these purchases increase.

It is an old and true saying that what the railroad earns it spends—spends promptly to bring added employment and prosperity to the nation's business.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

The Illinois Central System this year will spend more than thirty-five million dollars in direct purchases.

The handling and distribution of purchases is a major behind-the-scenes activity on the railroad.

Bottling Fruit Juices

Recent research on bottling fruit juices show that for most summer fruits, home methods proved entirely satisfactory, says Miss Mary E. Doney, extension specialist in food preservation.

Strawberries, currants, red and black raspberries, blackberries, late cherries, loganberries, and plant yield easily bottled juices. So do grapes and apples.

The acid these fruits contain makes it possible to use pasteurizing temperatures, which are considerably below the boiling point, and still have a product that will keep. A simple method was used. A small amount of the fruit was washed in a kettle, then heated just to the simmering point, and stirred to prevent scorching. Less juicy fruits were cooked with a little water—a quarter cup to a pound of fruit—and for a longer time but at no higher temperature. A rise above 185° F. caused some loss of the fresh-fruit flavor. The juice was strained through a heavy jelly bag.

Sugar helped to retain color and improved the flavor of some juices but was not necessary to preserve them. Best results were obtained when sugar was used, by adding just before reheating the juice for bottling and stirring until well dissolved.

The strained and sweetened juice was reheated to the simmering point, poured into hot sterilized bottles or glass jars, sealed, and processed for 10 minutes at the simmering point.

The bottles must be sealed tight before they are processed. Dip the crown bottle caps in boiling water and adjust at once on the bottles by means of a bottle capper. Clamps on glass jars are left up. The jars or bottles should be placed on a rack or folded towel in the water bath, and should not be crowded. The water should come at least 2 inches over the tops. After 10 minutes remove the bottles or jars and cool.

If the bottles are corked, dip the neck and top on the bottle in semi-solid paraffin or sealing wax. Glass jars are sealed like any other canned fruit. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

STUPENDOUS LOSSES IN NORTH MISSISSIPPI

(By F. J. Hurst)

Prevention of the stupendous losses being incurred in Mississippi, especially in the central and northern counties of the state by widespread erosion of the once fertile uplands and the increasing frequency and destructiveness of floods in the rich lowlands is a problem of increasing concern to agricultural leaders and farmers of the state.

In fact, the problem has reached such proportions that its solution is beyond the control of the individual farmer in many instances and the federal government is stepping into the picture in increasing measure through the U. S. Department of Agriculture and its various divisions and the State Extension Service to help farmers.

To even the layman who has traveled through the hill counties of central and north Mississippi, the character and extent of soil erosion and destructive gullying is evident on every hand. Hundreds of thousands of acres of "worm-out" lands, impoverished soils and vast gullied and abandoned areas bear mute but tragic testimony to the ruin that has been wrought.

But the depletion and destruction of much of the once fertile uplands constitutes but one phase of the problem. The sand and other infertile eroding material swept out of gullies and carried down from the hills has covered and ruined rich bottom lands, destroyed valuable timber stands, filled drainage ditches, clogged stream channels, and contributed to the frequency and destructiveness of floods.

Basic causes of the rapid and extensive erosion include the cultivation of land too steep for cultivated crops, failure to terrace the rolling cultivated lands, continuous production of clean cultivated crops, leaving the land exposed to heavy winter rains without a protecting cover of close growing crops, depletion of the organic matter in the soil, and the practice of running rows up and down

Bulletin

Lieutenant Colonel R. E. Davis, the officer in charge of Marine Corps recruiting activities in the Southern Recruiting Division, whose Headquarters is in New Orleans, announces that sixty young men will be enlisted through the New Orleans office during the month of July.

Requirements for enlistment are as follows:

Be a white citizen of the United States, between the ages of 18 and 28; unmarried and without dependents; be not less than 64 nor over 74 inches in height; able to secure parents or guardians consent, if under 21 years of age, and able to furnish satisfactory character references from professional or business persons who have known the applicant for several years.

Young men who meet the above requirements and pass our rigid physical examination will be enlisted and transferred to Paris Island, S. C. or San Diego, Calif., for the usual two months training before assignment to duty aboard ships or at some Marine Post in the U. S. or foreign land where Marines are stationed.

Applicants may secure application blanks and literature from their postmaster or by writing Marine Headquarters, 535 St. Charles Street, New Orleans, La.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY

COTTON INSECT REPORT

State College, Miss.—Boll weevils were found in 67 fields of 106 examined in 31 counties by Plant Board inspectors the past week. Of the fields examined 63% were infested as compared with 47% in 25 counties last week. Summarizing the reports, R. P. Colmer, Chief states that the average infestation of the State Plant Board on the farms visited was 7 1/4% and on the farms where the plants were small there was an average of 67 weevils per acre. This compares with 15 1/4% of the squares infested last week and 92 weevils per acre; and 2% infestation this date last year. The decrease in the number of weevils per acre is probably due to the overwintering weevils dying. The decrease in the square infestation is due largely to the increase in the number of squares present on the plants and the mortality of overwintering weevils.

Examinations were made generally through the state, and fields in the following counties showed infestations of more than 10%: George, Holmes, Jasper, Lauderdale, Monroe, and Washington. The heaviest infestations were found in Lauderdale and Washington counties. No weevils were found in fields examined in Alcorn, Chickasaw, Issaquena, Itawamba, Lee, Prentiss, Sharkey, and Tishomingo counties.

The cause of erosion indicate the steps necessary to check it. The State Extension Service recommends the following:

Terracing of all rolling cultivated lands! re-establishing protective covering on all lands too steep for cultivation by sodding to pasture grasses, and clovers, or by reforestation; restoration of organic matter by plowing under soil building crops, protection from winter rains by growing winter legumes and reclamation of gullied areas by building brush dams and planting black locust trees and other types of vegetation in gullies and on gully banks.

The state extension service, the county agents, the soil conservation service, the OOC boys, and the federal and state forest services, are conducting demonstrations and aiding farmers in various ways to stop erosion and improve soil fertility.

Under the agricultural conservation program, farmers may earn payments for carrying out fourteen different kinds of soil building practices including the planting of winter and summer legumes, the establishing of permanent pastures, the planting of trees and the terracing of land that needs it.

The accompanying pictures give a graphic illustration of soil losses and of erosion prevention methods.

THE TREND OF THINGS

SKETCHED IN THE MERCHANDISE MART CHICAGO.

Entire Nation To Hear the Liberty Bell Which Proclaimed American Independence July 4, 1776, Ring Again July 4th

Philadelphia, Pa.—The entire nation will hear the Liberty Bell, which proclaimed American Independence on July 4, 1776, ring again on the Fourth of July in a program of The American Legion which will be carried over the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System. It will be the first time in history that the nation has heard the historic bell on the anniversary of the day it tolled the birth of the country.

The program will be broadcast from Independence Hall, originating the same room in which the Declaration of Independence was signed and the Constitution of the United States was adopted. Much of the furnishings which occupied the room on both those historic occasions are still there and will be used in a dramatization in connection with the broadcast.

The broadcast will be for 30 minutes, beginning at 2 o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time, which is 1 o'clock Eastern Standard Time, 12 Noon Central Standard Time, 11 a. m. Mountain Standard Time, and 10 a. m. Pacific Standard Time.

The program will open with a band selection, followed by a description of the scene by one of the Columbia Broadcasting System's ace commentators. Professional actors, all costumed in the clothes of the famous characters they will represent, will then put on a dramatization of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As the climax to this stirring scene, Major S. Davies Wilson, of Philadelphia, will personally ring the Liberty Bell, specially arranged microphones carrying each resonant peal to every corner of the country. The mayor will then introduce Harry W. Colmery, national commander of The American Legion, who will deliver a brief address of national importance. The program will close with the National Anthem, played by the band.

Pulpwood Stumpage Prices Set By Forest Service On National Forest

Regulations governing the sale of pine pulpwood stumpage from National Forest land were announced today by Joseph C. Kircher, Regional Forester of the U. S. Forest Service. Of special interest to private land owners in the slash pine section will be the minimum price of $1.00 per standard cord for pine pulpwood stumpage sales on National Forests in Region 8. As in the case of saw timber sales, pulpwood stumpage must be sold on competitive bid basis in accordance with the Department of Agriculture regulations. Payments are based on actual measurements of timber after it is cut and stacked by purchaser, and in no instance will bids of less than $1.00 per cord be received. Mr. Kircher stated that the minimum price of $1.00 was set because he believed that unless at least that much could be secured for stumpage, it was better business to hold it for future sale.

A standard cord contains 128 cubic feet of stacked wood. If four-foot wood is cut, a stacked cord will measure 4' x 8'. Units used by the pulp and paper industry may contain 1-1/8 or 1-1/4 cords depending on whether the lengths are 4 1/2 or 5 ft. The price per cord sometimes depends on its accessibility to a mill.

"Pulpwood from National Forests," said Regional Forester Kircher, "will be obtained primarily from thinning and improvement cuttings. In naval stores sections, pulpwood will be cut largely from worked-out turpentine pines."

Mississippi Forestry Service Officials Acclaim Annual Rangers' School

Jackson, Miss., June 26—Mississippi Forestry Service officials today acclaimed the annual rangers' school at Ramsay Springs as the most successful ever conducted. The visit of Governor Hugh White to the school and his subsequent praise-worthy statement on the Mississippi forestry program was seen as a major feature of the event.

A number of other notables attended, including J. C. Kircher, of Atlanta, Regional U. S. Forester; H. J. Eberly, of Atlanta, Assistant Regional Forester; J. W. K. Helliway, of Atlanta, Clarke-McNary, Inspector; and R. M. Conar-ro, of Jackson, U. S. forest supervisor.

Bob Newton and Posey Howell, members of the Mississippi Forestry Commission, were present.

The Southern Experiment Station of the U. S. Forest Service at New Orleans, sent Messrs. Olsen and Osborne to the school. Ethel Dismuke, WPA photographer, recorded the school. Commissioner Si Corley of the Game and Fish Commission, was also a guest. State Forester Fred Merrill and A. K. Daxie, chief of the forest fire central section of the state department were active in directing the school.

OLD AGE BENEFIT PROVISIONS FOR SPECIAL GROUPS OF WORKERS

Old-Age benefits will be paid to workers who are entitled to such payment, regardless of property or other income. The amount of old-age benefits each qualified wage earner will receive will depend upon the total amount he earns between January 1, 1937, and the date of his 65th birthday.

Any amount of earnings (up to $3,000 in a single year from a single employer) which may be placed to a worker's credit on his social security account, will entitle him to a corresponding credit toward old-age benefits. Whether he owns a great deal of property, or none at all, makes no difference in the matter of old-age benefits. For example, Dick Graham, an expert carpenter, has been working for years and has invested his savings in a farm. He continues to work as an employee of a certain company for seven years after January 1, 1937, earns wages amounting to several thousand dollars, reaches the age of 65 and retires to live on his farm. No matter what his farm is worth or how much money he makes from his crops, he will receive a Government check for old-age benefits each month the rest of his life. He might own a store or a sawmill or a bank, but if he is entitled to old-age benefits, by reason of his wage earnings under the Social Security Act, he will get the monthly check just the same.

The beneficiary of an insurance policy may qualify for old-age benefits. A worker who collects rent from houses that he owns may qualify for old-age benefits. An employee who is entitled to benefits, may operate his own store, if he sees fit.

Income from another source does not affect the payment of old-age benefits when the employee has qualified for such benefits.

In this part of the country, workers are employed part of the year on farms and during other months they are employed in cotton gins, saw mills, factories or stores. Agricultural labor is expected, and wages earned in farm work will not be counted toward old-age benefits. So, what happens in the case of a worker who is employed part of the time in some industry that is not excepted under the law?

When he begins work in a mill, factory, shop, store, or other industry covered by the law, he should apply for a social security account number. Each worker will

Farm Debt Adjustment Body to Meet

A regular meeting of the Grenada county farm debt adjustment committee will be held at Grenada Friday, July 9th it was announced today by W. W. Whitaker, chairman of the group. The meeting will be held at the RA office and is scheduled to begin at 3 p. m.

John P. Bennett, District RA farm debt adjustment supervisor, will attend the meeting.

Debt-burdened farmers and farm tenants who face serious complications from debt problems despite their honest efforts to meet their obligations are invited to consult with the committee, the chairman said. Services are free and all information and procedure is treated confidentially by the committee.

Farm debt adjustment committees are made up of community leaders who serve on a voluntary basis to bring distressed farm debtors and their creditors together in an effort to find a solution to their problems that will benefit both and enable the farmer to carry on.

Persons desiring to consult with the committee should contact the committee chairman, the RA rehabilitation supervisor or the Extension agent.

Things to Come

To the score of uses housewives find for tomato paste is soon to be added another. A new type of tomato paste is being perfected which, simply diluted with water, makes as delectable juice as that made in the usual ways. While food scientists are credited with this innovation it's partly due, they claim, to the work of horticulturists who have recently grown a tomato—originally native to Italy—with a chemically balanced food content, and to certain refinements in the canning process. In form the tomato resembles a pear and when canned whole it keeps its shape so that it may be used for salads or even stuffed.

You Can Bank on the WEBER Wagon for Years of Hard Work

IF YOU need a strong, light-draft wagon for hard use over all kinds of going, you can't get any wagon better than the Weber. And it is priced right, too.

Thoroughly seasoned "A" grade lumber is used in the wheels, axles, reach, and tongue. The finest oak and hickory are used in the wheels, and the steel tires and hub bands are put on to stay by a hydraulic press.

Weber farm gears and boxes have been giving the most satisfactory service for nearly a hundred years. Don't buy any wagon until you have examined the Weber. Various capacities and sizes available to meet practically every hauling need.

CITIZENS ENTERTAINED

let the new industry were expressed.

Mr. Morrow gave his impression of his visit to Indianapolis. He was loud in his praise of the character of the men who will come to Grenada and he says they want this fact impressed that they are to become citizens of Grenada and will cooperate in furthering the best interests of their adopted home.

He was in the ranges not only of the owners of the hosiery mill but visited in those of some of the employees. He states that a very fine feeling exists between those who work and those who employ. Mr. Jim Keeton told of the visit to Durant and added much more proof that there will be a harmonious relationship between the fellow that owns and the fellow that works.

Mr. Goodman is especially anxious that we be patient, not expect too much right at the start as it takes time to get a big business going and time to get pay rolls to reach their maximum. Folks in this area are not expert knitters off hose, they must be taught, and while they are going to school to learn a trade to make a living they certainly cannot expect much income.

Mr. Morrow stated that he had just talked to Mr. L. L. Goodman and that he stated his brother received the flowers aboard his boat bound for Europe where he will spend three months on vacation. He was especially grateful and showed to passengers of the boat what his new found friends had sent him.

Mr. Lem Boone made some remarks that were to the point. He said that we had had our PWA, WPA, FERA and now the C. I. O. He was wondering about the future, since Grenada is preparing to end a sit-down strike for those who are sitting down because they have to work, when the working people get a chance to end their idleness whether they will listen to outside disturbers who make their way by forcing others to be idle.

Mr. George Garner, horse show promoter, was asked to appear on the program. The presumption is that he was out practicing that horse of his, getting him in good show shape, and did not have time to get to the meeting. Mr. Pete LaGrone told of the progress being made in the sale of tickets. That is the big thing the promoters are interested in, to get the gate receipts that none of the guarantors will have to go down in their jeans and put up any deficit. And Mr. Roy Deak took the place of Mr. Cowles Horton, who had been asked to talk. His speech was full of good advice.

Mr. Andrew Carothers was assigned the subject, The Past and the Future. He told the story of Edward Bok's ancestors who lived on a beautiful island and there established a bird sanctuary. Mr. Bok came to this country, worked for the Curtis Publishing Company, married the daughter of Mr. Curtis and established a beautiful bird sanctuary in Florida and built the singing tower. The thought is, that we must not lose interest in making Grenada the City Beautiful. And that reminds us that house shortage was stressed. The scouts who work for the Goodmans came down to spy out the land. They embarrassed Pete LaGrone, Mr. Perry and Mr. Morrow by asking several times when they would show them Grenada's beautiful homes, well where are we going to live? They showed them Grenada's beautiful homes but were unable to show them where they were going to live. Dr. C. K. Bailey got up and stressed a movement to get some houses since we have been hammering on Mr. Will Hoffa's slogan "Buy and Build in Grenada." Mr. F. T. Gerard was asked about this problem. He said, "we, (City Lumber Company), have all the money we have invested in Grenada homes." And here is a battle for the C. of C. to fight out. More homes for Grenada, few lots left, we will not use all of them for factory sights. (Free advertising.)

Mr. Will Ed Boushe had something to say, so did Rev. C. A. Parks, who told a story that illustrated the act that he knows something of the worldliness of young folks and that boys and girls will be boys and girls.

Mr. Robert Sharp chimed in to defend the Methodists when some of the good Baptists began to rub it in. Mr. L. P. Horton, board of supervisor member from the Grenada District, came in for a good share of praise by Mr. Ray. He has co-operated to the fullest extent in getting the lot shaped up for the building. Mr. Horton stated that he stands ready and willing at all times to go the limit to help Grenada and his county.

Mayor Neely and two of his aldermen were on the program. They have won the gratitude of the C. of C. and the citizenship for the part they have played, for they could have blocked the movement. Their attitude was that they listened to the voice of the boss, the folks that elected them.

The President mentioned money matters just one time and he spoke in undertone. He hated to break in on the fun by mentioning such a matter as money. He did admit that it would take monthly payments of dues to keep the Chamber of Commerce up to its present high standard and that the coffers are empty.

An old timer, Mr. Jim Keeton, C. of C. enthusiast, who in company with the present president states that they had drunk several barrels of coffee both good and bad trying to get courage enough to tell business men that we must have a Chamber of Commerce and trying to get up the courage to ask for some fees to employ a secretary to carry on.

Mr. Jones, editor of The Sentinel's contemporary, made a few remarks after toastmaster failed to give the two papers a roast but handed a very nice package, thanking us for the space and support given the C. of C. in its efforts to land the hosiery mill. Brother Jones was kind in what he had to say in regard to The Sentinel and The Sentinel reciprocates and wishes to express appreciation to the Daily Star.

Only the high lights could be given of a program that ended at 9:30. Some speakers of the occasion we have doubtless omitted. We were not taking notes, we were there to have a good time and we did.

We are glad that we attended the meeting and sorry that every seat was not taken.

There was a fun part to the program and the young folks put on some good stunts. Miss Jackey Lane, accompanied by Miss Jean Marders made quite a hit with her graceful dancing. Mr. Ralph Semmes, Jr., put on an exhibition of buck and wing dancing that in the old days would have given him a place with Al G. Field. He was assisted by Miss Jean Marders who played the piano. Mr. M. M. Batson played the clarinet and Miss Ann Neely sang. She has a good contralto voice. These features were especially enjoyed.

President Jefferson Davis died, with his last utterance, "Pray excuse me," when being offered a glass of water.

"J. U. Payne, at that time was head of the banking and commission firm, J. U. Payne and Co., later merged into Payne, Kenedy and Payne.

"You are in error as to 'A. M. Payne, Sr., succeeding J. U. Payne. It was M. Richard Payne, who was the father of Andrew Miller Payne, who passed away last year at Yazoo City, Miss. A. M. Payne being a grandson of Jacob, son of M. Richard Payne.

"M. Richard Payne, owned three plantations, joining, on Yazoo River, twelve to eighteen miles above Yazoo City, Home Park Monerey and Kolanza. Also another on Honey Island, near Belzoni, Miss. All the pride of the delta.

"A. Miller Payne and Henry C. Downing, for a number of years, operated a merchantile establishment, on a large scale, at Home Park, Miss., on the Home Park plantation, as H. C. Downing and Co.

"I was associated with this firm and these princely gentlemen, in a clerical way, for over three years, which has ever been a bright oasis in the desert of memory with me.

"M. Richard Payne had two sons, A. Miller Payne, born on the Glenwild Plantation, near Grenada, Miss., I learned in a write-up at his death. Chas. J. Payne, the other, two daughters, Miss Lavinia Payne, who married Judge Birchett, Vicksburg, Miss., Miss Annie C. Payne, Asheville, N. C.

"I would suggest that you cause to be mailed copies of your article on Glenwild Plantation, to Mrs. A. Miller Payne, and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Holmes, Yazoo City, Miss.

"Herbert Holmes is associated with one of Yazoo City's leading banks, and is a brother of Judge Edwin R. Holmes recently appointed to the federal bench."

Yours very truly,
J. Potts Holt.

"Mr. W. E. Boushe,
Grenada, Miss.

Dear Mr. Boushe:
"I have been reading with much interest your articles on Grenada, and the citizens who have contributed to the upbuilding of Grenada county, and I was especially interested in your last article on what we have always called 'The Payne Place,'—all of which articles have brought back to me many memories of Grenada and her citizens whom I knew during my boyhood—in fact, many of whom I had the pleasure, as a boy, of meeting in the homes of my father and grandfather.

"I hope you will continue these articles, for they are very interesting reading to those who have passed their 'three score and ten'—and certainly instructive to the younger generation, a large number of whom, unfortunately, do not think as much on subjects of the past as they should.

With regards and good wishes,

I am,
Sincerely your friend,
Lloyd T. Binford.
Extracts from Another Letter

"When I am in Duck Hill I often go to Grenada at night, as the next time I am there I shall take occasion to come up some afternoon and have a heart to heart talk with you about our fathers and the things freshest in our memories, for I have ascertained that when a man passes his three score and ten he begins to live in the past rather than in the future, of which he hasn't very much, and this is evidence that 'The Payne Place' tempers the wind to the shorn Lamb."

"Again assuring you of my appreciation of your letter, and with regards and good wishes, I am,
Sincerely your friend,
Lloyd T. Binford."

R. N. Brooks Discharged

There appeared several days ago in a newspaper item that R. N. Brooks, of Tutwiler, Tallahatchie county, formerly of this county, was held in the Coahoma county jail on a charge of robbery. It now appears that Brooks has been discharged and completely exonerated in this matter by the District Attorney of the district in which Coahoma county is situated. It seems that there was no basis for the charge and Brooks was released from confinement without the formality of a trial. This item of news will be appreciated by the citizens of this county in which Mr. Brooks was born and reared and in which his mother still resides, as this family has always been held in high esteem here by all who knew them.
